RE: MUR 7012

Dear Mr. Dockrey:

The Federal Election Commission reviewed the allegations in your complaint received on February 25, 2016. On November 29, 2016, based upon the information provided in the complaint, and information provided by the respondents, the Commission decided to exercise its prosecutorial discretion to dismiss the allegations and close its file in this matter. Accordingly, the Commission closed its file in this matter on November 29, 2016.

Documents related to the case will be placed on the public record within 30 days. See Statement of Policy Regarding Disclosure of Closed Enforcement and Related Files, 68 Fed. Reg. 70,426 (Dec. 18, 2003) and Statement of Policy Regarding Placing First General Counsel's Reports on the Public Record, 74 Fed. Reg. 66132 (Dec. 14, 2009). A copy of the dispositive General Counsel's Response is enclosed for your information.

The Federal Election Campaign Act of 1971, as amended, allows a complainant to seek judicial review of the Commission's dismissal of this action. See 52 U.S.C. § 30109(a)(8).

Sincerely,

Lisa J. Stevenson
Acting General Counsel

The Complaint alleges that yard signs and brochures produced and distributed by the Mike Sweeney 4 Congress Committee ("Committee") failed to include the proper disclaimers in violation of 52 U.S.C. § 30120 and 11 C.F.R. § 110.11. According to the Complaint, the disclaimers on the Committee's yard signs, and at least one brochure, were not placed inside a printed box. The Committee responded by stating that it believed that the disclaimers were, in fact, placed in boxes, and were clearly visible. They add that Sweeney was a first-time, low-budget candidate, and that any potential violations of the Act or Commission regulations were unintentional mistakes.<sup>2</sup> Furthermore, the Committee stated that all campaign signs had been removed after Sweeney's loss in the primary.

Whenever a political committee makes a disbursement for a communication through an outdoor advertising facility or mailing, the Act and Commission regulations require that the communication shall clearly state that it has been paid for by the committee. 52 U.S.C. § 30120(a)(1). See also 11 C.F.R. § 110.11(a)(1). Additionally, the disclaimer on any printed communication is required to be contained in a printed box set apart from the other contents of the communication. 52 U.S.C. § 30120(c)(2). See also 11 C.F.R. § 110.11(c)(2)(ii). Photos of the brochure and yard signs attached to the Complaint indicate that the published materials contained the full text of a disclaimer, but that they may not have been contained in a printed box set apart from the other contents of the communication.

Based on its experience and expertise, the Commission has established an Enforcement Priority System using formal, pre-determined scoring criteria to allocate agency resources and assess whether particular matters warrant further administrative enforcement proceedings. These criteria include (1) the gravity of the alleged violation, taking into account both the type of activity and the amount in violation; (2) the apparent impact the alleged violation may have had on the electoral process; (3) the complexity of the legal issues raised in the matter; and (4) recent trends in potential violations and other developments in the law. This matter is rated as low priority for Commission action after application of these pre-established criteria. Given that low rating, and the fact that it is unlikely the general public would have been misled as to who was responsible for the communication, we recommend that the Commission dismiss the allegations consistent with the Commission's prosecutorial discretion to determine the proper ordering of its priorities and use of agency resources. Heckler v. Chaney, 470 U.S. 821, 831-32 (1985). We also recommend that the Commission close the file as to all respondents and send the appropriate letters.
